

CHLOROFORMED
CHOKED, ROBBED
ON THE STREET

Frank L. Gegax Assaulted by Footpads at an Early Hour Last Night at Fifth Avenue and Adams Street

THE ROADSIDE

He Was Fortunately Discovered in a Few Minutes Given Attention and Will Be All Right Today; Lost About $300

Frank L. Gegax held up about 9 o'clock last evening at Fifth Avenue and Adams, chloroformed, robbed of about $300 and a note for between one and two hundred dollars, cast by the roadside to await his fate, picked up by unknown parties and taken to the office of Dr. Monical, thence to the police station and later to his home at the Noflinger home, a mile and a half north of the fair grounds, will have a lot to think about when he gets back to a thoroughly lucid condition this morning. Probably in the course of his reasoning he will recall that yesterday was Friday, the 13th, and that he forgot to keep his fingers crossed. Also he will remember that just twenty-four hours before, he was undergoing a mimic court martial by his fellow members of B company N. G. A. and was assessed a pretty stiff fine, only about twenty feet from where last night's episode took place; moreover, it will occur to him that his summer vacation was cut pretty short, having ended just before it began; and finally, he will realize that $300 was too much money for him to ever have about his person, in view of the fact that he is a quasi newspaper man. Anyhow, whatever he thinks of Friday, the 13th, he will hereafter keep a sharp lookout every time he gets in the vicinity of Fifth Avenue and Adams streets.

Frank Gegax is a highly respected young man of exemplary habits, an enthusiastic member of B company, a hard worker in the employ of a local creamery company and incidentally a rural correspondent of The Republican. Living as mentioned above at the Noflinger home, he had a little business to attend to in Los Angeles about this season of the year and has been saving his earnings for the purpose of a week's visit to the coast on business and pleasure combined. Last night about 9 o'clock he called at The Republican office, dressed for his vacation and carrying a traveling bag, and announced that he would leave for the coast this morning. From this office he went to the Hotel Adams and checked his grip intending later to return and secure a room for the night. Then he desired the services of a barber and went into a shop near the Savoy theater, the only one he could find open, but says he discovered no money there save a little silver.

About 10 o'clock he was stretched out on a cot in the police station, slowly reviving from the influence of some drug, presumably chloroform, and asked the police to call a friend on the Republican staff, to whom he needed what was already known of his earlier movements and added the following: After leaving the barber shop he started directly west on Adams street, for the residence of Dr. Swetnam on Nineteenth Avenue. He owed the doctor a financial obligation he desired to settle before leaving the city and also had one or two other bills to pay. When he was still too ill from the effects of the drug last night to state exactly how much money he had on his person but said that he had figured that when he had paid all these debts he would have about $200 left for his trip, from which fact he estimates that he had approximately $200 in bills in a pocket book in his inside coat pocket, together with a note for about $150 made out in the name of another man not now in the city.

Just as he passed into the shadow in front of the armory at the corner of Fifth Avenue and Adams, two men suddenly confronted him, saying something in Spanish he did not understand. One of them grabbed him by the throat in an effort to choke him, presumably to prevent an outcry and at the same instant a cloth was placed across his face over his nose. He cannot tell whether one man did all the work or whether the other helped him, for it was only an instant until he was dead to the world. The next thing he remembers is being stretched on a cot in the police station, with nothing in his pockets but the Hotel Adams check for his traveling bag.

From others it is learned that somebody whose name was not secured, found Gegax lying beside the ditch in front of the armory, placed him in a milk wagon or some similar conveyance and took him to the office of Dr. Grant Monical where he was sufficiently restored to be again moved by the patrol wagon to the police station. By 10:30 he was able to sit up and talk coherently and

HOODLUMS RAMPANT
IN DULUTH STREETS

Use Street Car Strike As Excuse for Rioting All Over City

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] DULUTH, Sept. 13.—Hoodlums took possession of the streets today, with the street car strike as an excuse, and rioted for hours in all parts of the city. Non-union carmen were beaten, cars wrecked, and once shots were fired in defiance of the police who tried to break the spectacular and vicious mob near the car barn.

Two men were seriously hurt by stones. The police said the leaders of the riot were iron workers from the local foundries. Soldiers will be necessary to preserve order and the governor has been asked to send them.

FAVORS UNITED STATES

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] CHIAUSO, Switzerland, Sept. 13.—All the great European powers have exercised the good offices of trying to arrange an understanding between Italy and Turkey, on a basis which would be made the foundation of peace negotiations, but both Italy and Turkey are understood to have declared that they would welcome mediation by the United States as being the only country absolutely disinterested.

SMITH INSISTS ON PROTECTION

Will Not Commit Himself on Intervention Idea, But Says Mexico Should Insure Safety of Americans Within Her Borders

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] EL PASO, Sept. 13.—Summarizing the work of his committee, Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan, chairman of the sub-committee of the senate committee on foreign affairs to investigate the alleged American activity in fomenting the present Mexican revolution, said today: "While it would be foolhardy for our government to involve itself unnecessarily in the affairs of Mexico and suture the western hemisphere, we should never hesitate to protect American citizens from torture, persecution and robbery which occur, through the inability of constitutional authorities to exercise their protective functions for the preservation of the liberties and other rights of Americans."

"So many cases of wanton oppression and unnecessary hardships have presented themselves to our committee and seemingly so little has been done by our government to strike at the root of the entire difficulties, that I am not surprised to find among the more reckless of Mexican people a disposition to belittle our prowess, decry our strength and misconstrue our motives."

"A firm, determined, vigorous and unrelenting foreign policy which asks justice and fair treatment of Americans at the hands of other governments and assures the same treatment to their citizens among us, should secure a heritage to our people and it must not be a garment to put on and off at the whim or caprice of anyone. If I had any idea of intervention I would not give it because I have no facts upon which to base such a statement. I will say, however, that I hope that long before our government could act through appropriate channels, a fair and equitable solution had been reached of the warring elements in Mexico will have been reached."

THREE RECORDS BROKEN

Evelyn W. Is Feature of Grand Circuit Meeting at Syracuse

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] SYRACUSE, Sept. 13.—Three women's records were broken today by Evelyn W. in winning the free-for-all pace at the Grand circuit meeting. Her time for the mile was two minutes and one-half second. The second heat was the fastest heat ever paced by a mare, the fastest second heat by pacers of either sex and the race constituted the fastest two heats ever paced by a mare. The time at the quarters was thirty-one, one minute and three-quarters of a second, two minutes and one-half second. The first mile's time was two minutes, three and one-half seconds, and the last half-mile was made in fifty-nine and one-half seconds.

GRAPE PICKERS SCARCE

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] STOCKTON, Sept. 13.—San Joaquin valley grape growers are begging for men despite their offers of two dollars a day for pickers. Japanese refuse to work for less than two and a half dollars. It is feared that much of the crop will be lost to the growers through the scarcity of labor. The Japanese heretofore gladly accepted two dollars per day, it is said,

Roosevelt Makes Prophecy Just As He Concludes Long Speechmaking Tour Through the Northwest-ern States

ATTACKS COLTON
MEN IN UTAH

Says No Honest Man Is Obligated to Support Theft and Says There Should Be No Difference of Opinion

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] OGDEN, Sept. 13.—"We are going to best the bosses two to one at the polls next November," Roosevelt prophesied today at Pocatello. Roosevelt made the prophecy at the close of his long tour through the northwest. He came into Utah from Boise speaking on the way at Blackfoot and Pocatello. He stopped at Ogdien only long enough to address the delegates to the progressive state convention and then left for Reno on his way to the coast.

At Ogdien, Roosevelt attacked the "Colton men," in Utah, who, he asserted were opposing him because he said, he had told them he would not be a candidate and they had promised "Tatt" their support. The colonel spoke to a large crowd of people, some of whom came two hundred miles to hear him. "No man who is an honest man is obligated to support theft," he said. "Up to the time of the convention there was room for an honest difference of opinion, but one the convention ended there was no room for such difference."

ELECTORS CASE OPENS

Argument Is Made in Kansas Contest for Roosevelt Men.

DENVER, Sept. 13.—The statute that gives recourse to the courts to any citizen who by conspiracy or intimidation is denied the right to vote for the representative in congress, furnished the basis of the argument of Attorney D. B. Hite today in the Kansas presidential electors' case.

The arguments were opened in the United States court of appeals, the case having been appealed from the decision of Federal Judge W. H. Sanborn. His decision held that an attempt of Tatt supporters in Kansas to enjoin the secretary from certifying the names of eight Roosevelt electors to the county clerk to appear on the regular republican ballot did not come within the jurisdiction of a court of equity. The arguments will continue tomorrow.

WILL SEEK TREASURE.

Syndicate Is Formed to Locate Ship Sunk Since 1864.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] ELLSBERG, Wash., Sept. 13.—"Uncle Joe" Murrell, of Ellsberg, the sole remaining survivor of the ship Golden Gate, which was burned and sank off Manzanillo, Mexico in 1864, with over $2,000,000 of California gold aboard, received a letter from a San Francisco syndicate asking for certain details of the wreck and bearings of the spot where the Golden Gate sank. The letter carries the information that sufficient money to raise the wreck has been subscribed and that soon an expedition will be fitted out. Murrell was promised a liberal share in return for his information should the expedition prove successful.

French Agents Visit This City and Announce That Big Works Will Be Located Here in the Near Future

WILL FURNISH ALL OF THE SOUTHWEST

Capitalists Expected Here Within Three Months to Definitely Determine Upon Location and Other Details

With their eyes on Phoenix as a most desirable site for the location of one of three or four steel plants which they claim the Electro Tool Steel company of Paris, contemplates erecting in the southwest and in Mexico, Jacques Barney and Rene Heymann, of Paris, arrived here yesterday and registered at the Commercial Hotel. Incidentally they are acting as information agents for La France Steamship company, now operating a line of steamships out of Cherbourg, gathering data as to the country in and about San Diego which city will probably be the Pacific terminus of the company when the Panama canal is completed.

"There are a hundred reasons why the Electro Tool Steel company would plan to erect a plant in Phoenix," said Mr. Barney speaking to a reporter for the Republican. "We find this city is the active center of the great southwest and that there are adequate railroad facilities connecting this city with every point in Arizona and New Mexico. It is not planned to erect a plant in this section such as we contemplate constructing a short distance outside of San Diego, but nevertheless we will need a plant of considerable size in Arizona to take care of the business we expect to create in the southwest. The plant will be primarily for the refining of steel by a process that we have recently acquired and which promises to revolutionize the steel industry. This and the other plants will furnish an outlet for the billet iron we can manufacture in France at an exceedingly low cost and ship through the canal to our plants in this section."

"The process controlled by the Electro Tool Steel company was perfected only about seven months ago and it has been decided that Western America is the place to exploit it. While we shall visit Prescott before leaving for Mexico, I can hardly conceive of finding conditions anywhere more desirable for the needs of the plant we have in mind."

City Assessor Completes Figures for 1912 Showing Increased Valuation.

Real Estate	$ 5,265,385.00
Improvements	3,891,708.00
Personal	2,294,202.50
Total Valuation	$11,551,295.50

Figures, the compiling of which were completed yesterday by City Assessor and Tax Collector C. W. Barnett, show the city of Phoenix to have an assessable property valuation approximating $12,451,295.50, as compared with an assessed valuation last year of $11,551,295.50. On the face of these figures it would appear that Phoenix had gained over $900,000 in assessable property in twelve months, but the estimate of Collector Barnett is subject to changes by the board of equalization now sitting.

When the figures of Mr. Barnett were sent to the board of equalization last year, that body proceeded to raise them until the final assessment reached about $12,000,000. It is possible that the board may proceed to raise the figures for 1912 in about the same ratio, although that body, in its discretion, is in a position to lower them.

The foregoing table shows the general headings from which the grand total is obtained. The figures for 1911 as originally submitted by Collector Barnett were as follows: Real Estate $ 5,124,525.00 Improvements 3,507,732.00 Personal 2,899,161.50 Total Valuation $11,551,295.50 It will be noted that the principal gains in the assessment is found in the valuation of the improvements and in the general property.

Famous Japanese General and His Wife Take Their Own Lives Following the Funeral of Their Dead Ruler

WAS THE NATIONAL HERO OF JAPAN

He Captured Port Arthur From the Russians and Assured Success of His Country at Battle of Mukden

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] TOKIO, Sept. 13.—General Count Maresuko Nogi, supreme military councillor, and his wife Countess Nogi, committed suicide tonight following the religious ceremonies in connection with the death of the late Emperor Mutsuhito. Nogi was the national hero of Japan. It was he who captured Port Arthur from the Russians in 1904 and assured the success of his country in the battle of Mukden.

He was born in Hagii in 1849 of the Samurai of Choshu clan. At the outbreak of the Russo-Japanese war he was appointed commander of the third army. His forces took 203 miles hill after a terrible slaughter, during which Nogi lost his five sons. He personally received the sword from General Stoessel, the Russian commander. Countess Nogi was a Samurai of the Kagoshima clan.

The tragedy created a profound sensation and expressions of sorrow were heard on every hand tonight. Especially grief-stricken was Prince Arthur of Connaught, the British special envoy to the funeral of Mutsuhito. Prince Arthur was to have gone with General Nogi tomorrow to the former capital of the Shogunate, Kamakura.

Those who knew General Nogi well declared that his calmness in killing himself tonight was the kind of stoicism he always had displayed no matter what crisis faced him.

EMPEROR IS BURIED.

Impressive as Well As Picturesque Ceremonies Mark the Occasion.

TOKIO, Sept. 13.—The body of Emperor Mutsuhito was conveyed from Tokyo to Aoyama tonight on the first stage of the long journey to the last resting place. It was a picturesque though solemn procession. Borne on a two-wheeled cart, drawn by oxen, the huge casket containing the body of the "Emperor of the Era of Enlightenment" was taken through a lane of soldiers, back of whom thronged countless thousands of natives and numerous foreigners, over three miles of roads brilliantly lighted with torches and electric lights.

Under the glare of these, black and white funeral poles and sacred trees stuck out in bold relief from a background of mourning and draped and beflagged buildings. Following the impressive funeral services today at the palace here, a single detonation of a gun tonight served as an announcement to the waiting thousands of Tokyo that the cortege was leaving the palace for Aoyama. The firing of the signal which General Count Maresuko Nogi, one of Japan's foremost soldiers and his wife awaited to kill themselves, so that they might be with the Emperor whom the general has served so well in life.

Transport Logan Brings Remains of One Whom Father Thought Alive.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—When William H. Greer, of Nashville, met the Transport Logan from the Orient today having mortgaged his home in order to come to San Francisco to join his son, he was shown the casket containing the young man's remains. The son was J. W. Greer, who was examiner of the customs service at Manila and had died of fever on the voyage across the Pacific.

Greer recently wrote his father, who is an old man, that he was ill and would leave on the Logan for the continent. His funds were low and the father had to mortgage the family home to make the journey here. He eagerly awaited the coming of the ship today. In response to his anxious inquiry, the deck officer led him astern and silently pointed to the casket.

Three Youths Brave Alaska Cold on Hunting Trip and Frozen Bodies Are Found Where They Dropped From Hunger

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] JUNEAU, Alaska, Sept. 13.—Evidence of terrible suffering was brought to light with the finding yesterday of the bodies of John W. Shattuck, Leslie Oliver and Adelbert Linscott, three youths who left Juneau on a hunting expedition a week ago and perished in the Sheep Creek mountains from cold and hunger.

Oliver's body was found near the summit of the mountain. Three hundred feet nearer on a dividing ridge lay Shattuck and Linscott. Shattuck's head was pillowed on his companion's body. These two had eaten the paper from exploded shot gun shells and grass roots torn from the mountainside in a vain effort to stave off starvation. No matches or loaded cartridges were found in the clothes of the dead hunters. The three boys probably died last Sunday night and were deeply seamed with suffering.

It is believed they descended the slope of the mountain and wandered through the flats where a running stream could have been followed to Saltwater and safety, but becoming discouraged, they probably retraced their steps in an effort to reach a cabin where they could seek shelter.

The bodies will be shipped south on the steamer Jefferson, sailing for Seattle tomorrow that of Shattuck going to Gresham, Ore. Linscott to Seattle and Oliver to Portland.

Salazar Attacks El Tigre But Federals Repulse Him After Several Hours of Fighting at Close Range

ROJAS BAND IS NOT LOCATED

Federal Reinforcements Are Expected to Protect the El Tigre Mining Plant; Mormons Are on the Move

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] DOUGLAS, Sept. 13.—An attack of Inez Salazar's rebels on El Tigre today ended in a repulse for the rebels by a small band of federals garrisoning the camp. According to word received here tonight the attack began at six o'clock this morning. At 7:30 Salazar sent a messenger under a flag of truce to the commander of the federals demanding the surrender of the town to avoid further bloodshed.

As no one in camp had been wounded, it is believed that Salazar's request came as a result of loss among his own men. When the demand for a surrender of the town was refused Salazar renewed the attack and the firing continued until five o'clock tonight. At the last hour Salazar withdrew his forces but at nightfall they began firing upon the town from long range the federals replying to the fire.

During the day's fire two federals were wounded. No Americans were hurt. The rebel loss is unknown. One rebel was killed in the streets in an attempt by a party of rebels to rush a section of the camp. It is thought the loss in the hills was heavy.

The plant of the El Tigre Mining company was still operating late tonight and reinforcements for the federal garrison is expected to reach there at midnight. General Sanjines is expected to send a force from Agua Prieta south at daybreak.

A detachment of Rojas' band is reported to be twenty miles north of Colonia, Morelos tonight. The remainder is still at Cenize, twelve miles from Douglas. A party of Mormons left here to rescue five men and two boys who are still at the colony. Because of the belief here that Edward Haymore, a prominent merchant, was murdered this morning, it is feared that the Mormons remaining at the colony will meet a similar fate if their rescuers are too late. Haymore's clothing was found today near the place where his wagon was discovered.

E. S. O'Reilly and his two American companions who crossed the line into Mexico early yesterday and are expected to have crossed at a camp of the American border patrol, twenty miles east of Douglas. They had but one horse and it is reported that their two other horses had been shot in a brush with Rojas.

The plight of El Tigre on which attack was begun by rebels under Salazar early today, the whereabouts of the Rojas band of rebels who failed to attack, was Prieta this morning, and the inactivity of twelve hundred Mexican federal soldiers under Sanjines in the border town were the chief topics of conversation and conference today by the United States authorities on the American side of the line.

Nothing has been heard of fighting at El Tigre since the report that the rebels had attacked that city. The telephone was cut about noon today after word had been received that the federals had left Yzabal for El Tigre, thirty-five miles distant. Rojas was reported at Gallardo ranch, twelve miles from Agua Prieta, today. The Douglas "International" referred today to the attitude of the federal leaders as "a disgusting farce."

Reports from many sources indicate that rebel bands are looting, regardless of nearby federal troops. Word was brought here today that Edward Haymore, one of the principal merchants of Sonora, had disappeared while bringing merchandise from his store at Colonia Morelos. Haymore was robbed of merchandise valued at $2500 several days ago while trying to bring the goods to the American side. He returned for another load and Mormon refugees.

Colonel Douglas found his wagon partly destroyed and the harness and horses stolen nine miles south of Douglas. General Schuyler, in command of the department of California, said today that Rojas has informed him that he has "postponed his attack on Agua Prieta out of deference to the wishes of the American government."

The entire Ninth cavalry, commanded by Colonel Guilfoyle with the exception of one squadron troop, is encamped here. The colored troops are to be used to patrol the border from Douglas east to the New Mexican line, while the Fourth cavalry will patrol the border west from Douglas.
